A really simple instant messaging program for use on your local network. Just start it up and it will automatically show you everyone else on your network - chat instantly! Get (Really) Simple IM and take it for a spin to see just how useful it can be for you! (Really) Simple IM is a very simple Windows-based IM client. It is the simplest instant messaging program available. It's very easy to use - it's that easy. Just start it up and it will automatically show you everyone else on your network - chat instantly! This is the first version of the program, but I plan to do a lot more to it in the future. When you install the program for the first time, it will install about 50 files. After that, the rest is just a matter of clicking the "Start" button on the program icon to start up the client. Things I Want to add to (Really) Simple IM in the future: - The ability to work with contacts from a contact directory - Complete file transfer and file sharing capability - see image - The ability to chat with your phone over Bluetooth! - Any other ideas you might have! ---------------- Note: This program was created to work on XP but should work on any Windows version that is 2.0.x or above. (Both 32bit and 64bit versions available) Edit: Fixed a few more bugs. -
