contact:. . May 24, 2017 · I had prepared well for my UPSC exams. I am confident that I will get a score of more than 75. But when I entered the exam hall, I was shocked to see that only 5 students were there, and the rest was all admin staff. I took the first paper, and it was very difficult and so bored that I could not concentrate. At one point, I did not understand something, and I was unable to guess and check it. When it was halfway, I was tired and anxious. I knew that I was in the worst scenario, so I decided to pass it. I was confident that I will easily pass the rest of the paper, as I had already scored 100 when I wrote the prelims. I did not fear any stage at all. And I was wrong! The second paper was even more difficult. It was the second time that I tried to solve a paper in the presence of students. It was impossible. I asked my dad to help me, but I did not score even a little bit. My dad did not hesitate when he told me that I should not attempt it, as I will not pass it. I began to think that I was totally out of the race. And so, when it was halfway I was again frustrated and anxious to pass it. I was prepared that I was going to fail that paper, and so I was not confident. I started to think that I did not attempt the paper earlier, and that I should have given it a chance. I got the complete paper and was. May 24, 2017 · I had prepared well for my UPSC
